FOREWORD

The ARGO'67 contemplates the school year 1966-67. This book, in recording the uniqueness of this year, reveals to the reader a glimpse. This glimpse should cause the reader to relive and remember the relevant. The ARGO'67 is not dedicated to an ideal or a theme. If we must dedicate it, let this dedication be to the intrinsically creative mind and to the student who can derive from this book as much as he brings to it, who is the cause of this book and the purpose for which it was created. In my new clothing
I feel so different
I must
Look like someone else
BASHO

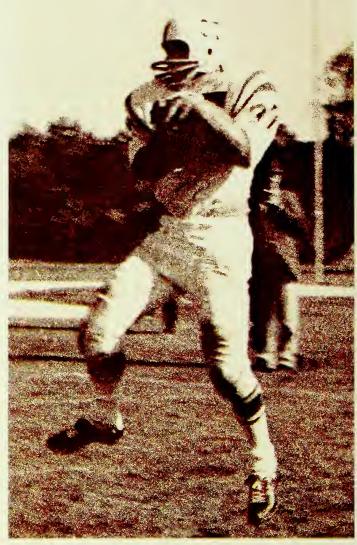

Blue evening sea . . .
From spring islands
Near and far
New lights are shining
SHIKI

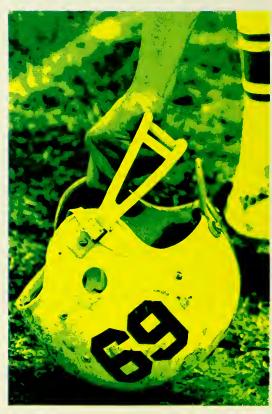

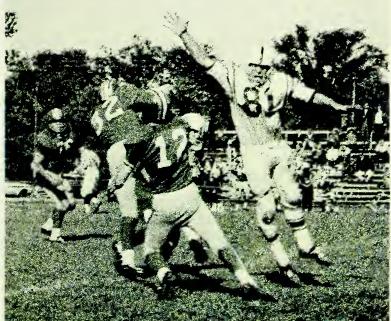

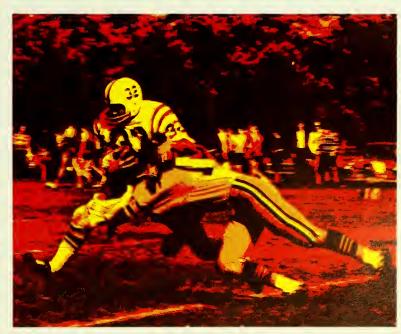

Eleven brave knights
Canter through the Whirling snow . . .
Not one bends his neck
SHIKI

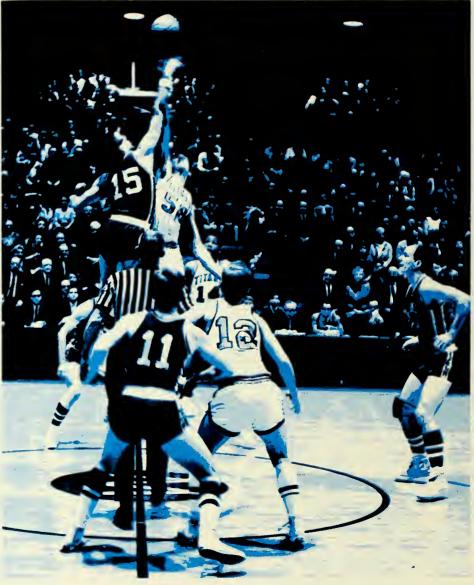

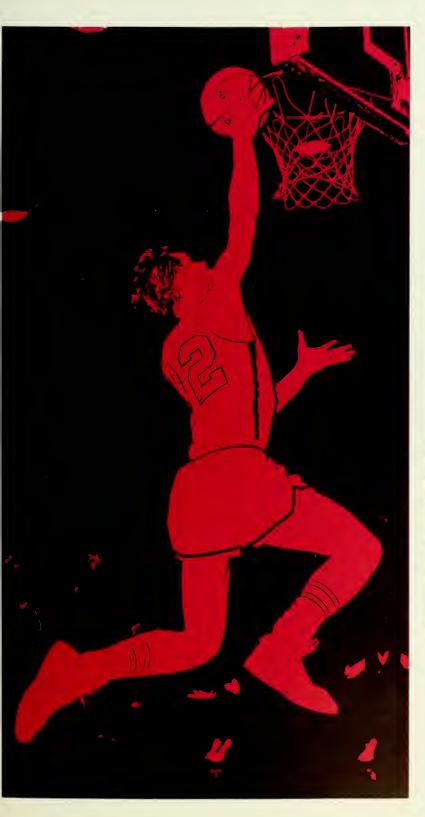

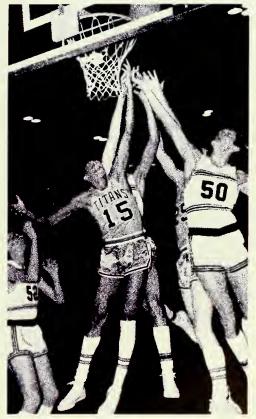

As I picked it up
To cage it . . .
The firefly
Lit my finger-tips
TAIGI

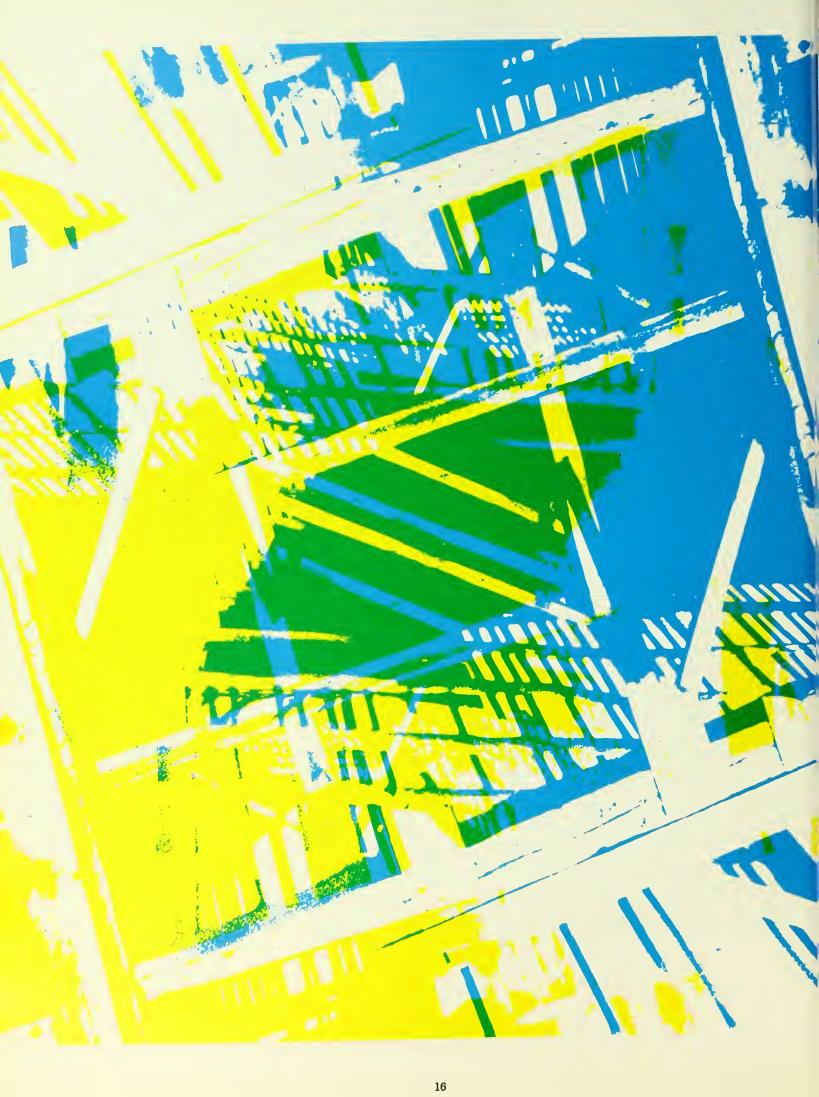

We stand still to hear
Tinkle of far
Temple bell . . .
Willow-leaves falling
BASHO

The jagged candle-flame
The very shape
Of autumn sifts
Through the shutters . . .

Sad twilight cricket . . .
Yes, I have wasted
Once again
Those daylight hours
RIKEI

Swat softly
At the sick room
Flies . . . Because
I seek for sleep

WESTMINSTER COLLEGE

THE CAMPOS

Completed in 1929, OLD MAIN MEMORIAL is the symbol of Westminster's academic life. The admissions and administrative offices are located here, as well as the departments of education and psychology, religion and philosophy, and English. The bells of Old Main Tower call us to Vespers, divide our days into quarter hours and declare another Westminster victory.

THE ARTS AND SCIENCE BUILDING has become the main academic center of the campus with the completion of the new addition this fall. It houses the departments of history and sociology, mathematics, art, languages, and speech, as well as the college's radio station. Beeghly Theater's excellent facilities have already been used for four play productions. Other special facilities include the spacious art and language labs, an art gallery for display of student and professional work, and the conservatory of music.

MeGILL MEMORIAL LIBRARY is an ever-expanding resource center for students and faculty alike. The upstairs and downstairs periodical and reading rooms offer a quiet place for studying or relaxing. The children's reading room, located on the lower level, is much-used by town youngsters and future teachers. The faculty lounge, with its comfortable chairs, doubles as a meeting place for professors and student organizations as well. Along with this year's expanded shelf and work space, a typing room was added where students can complete research papers.

Familiar sights around SCIENCE HALL are white lab coats, test tubes, and frogs in formaldehyde. Here our future biologists, physicists, and chemists experiment with up-to-date equipment. The building is composed of three parts: the Mary Thompson and Freeman Science Halls, and the Clark Chemical Laboratory. S.H. 116 serves as the meeting place for movies and lectures. Of special interest is the Spitz Planetarium with its 16 foot dome.

A large part of every student's life is spent in the dormitories. Shaw, Galbreath, Browne, and Ferguson are adequate and comfortable WOMEN'S RESIDENCES. Study, "gab" sessions, and 3:00 A. M. trips to the Pepsimachines are only a few aspects of life in a dorm. This year two cottage houses, Sewall House and McKelvey House, were used to meet the demand for more rooms.

The Westminster has expanded its HOUSING FOR MEN this year with the completion of Eichenauer Hall, which has spacious accommodations for 262 men. Eichenauer supplements Russell, Hillside, and Jeffers which house freshmen and upperclassmen. Others live in fraternity houses or off-campus apartments.

All paths eventually lead to the WALTON-MAYNE STUDENT UNION BUILDING. With its lounge and dining area, pool tables, and four bowling alleys, the "Tub" is the perfect place for relaxing during class breaks and in the evenings. The bookstore has a wide selection of books and other materials. The upstairs rooms serve as meeting places for many organizations. In addition, the Tub is the headquarters for the Argo, Holcad, CCF, Scrawl and Student Council.

"OLD 77", MEMORIAL FIELDHOUSE, the swimming pool, tennis courts, track, football and baseball fields are sites of activity at any season of the year. "Old 77", the women's gym, has a basketball court, swimming pool, and lash we have the swimming pool. locker rooms.

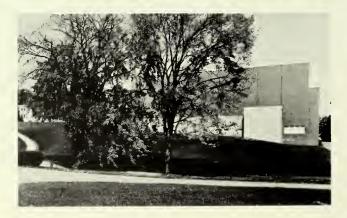

Memorial Fieldhouse is the headquarters for Westminster's varsity sports and men's gym classes. Its facilities include the basketball court and 3,300 capacity bleachers, locker rooms, and offices. Plans and fund raising for the fieldhouse addition are still underway.

At the Manse

A $1,000,000 victory

Dr. Will Orr retired as president of Westminster effective January 1967, thus ending seventeen years of service. Under his leadership the size of Westminster's physical plant tripled. In 1949, Dr. Orr arrived on an old campus bordered by temporary buildings; in 1967 Dr. Orr left a renovated campus enlarged by many new buildings. Missing now is the vast majority of temporary housing, and the temporary classroom buildings are now used only for maintenance purposes. In their place are modern faculty homes; Russell, Eichenhauer, Shaw and Galbreath Halls; and a large Arts and Science Building. Other campus additions include the Memorial Field House, the athletic fields, and the Walton-Mayne Student Union. Additions have been made to the Science Hall, the library, and Brittain Lake, while most of the other buildings have undergone remodeling.

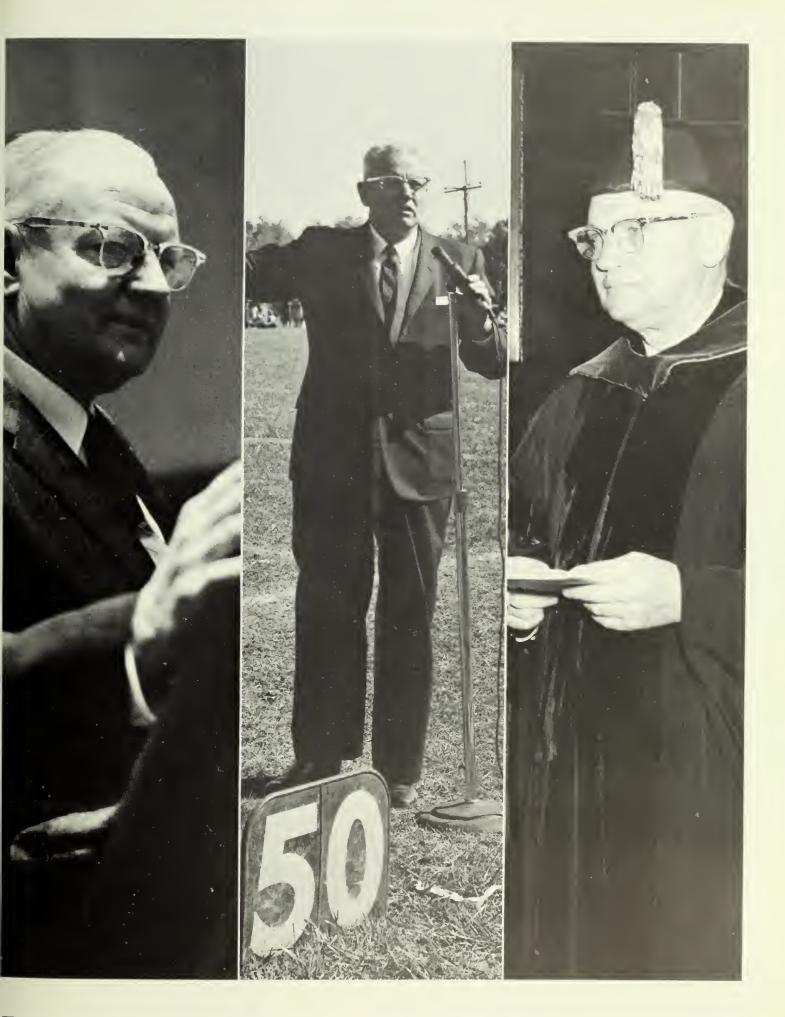

During Dr. Orr's tenure, the college grew in several other aspects. Undergraduate enrollment increased by 200, while graduate enrollment jumped 450. The size of the faculty was raised by 55%. Annual student fees rose above $1200.

Dr. Orr's leadership will be missed in many other areas. He was without a doubt the best fund raiser ever here. In 1966, gifts to the college were over $1,000,000 for the first time. He was one of the best speakers on campus. Above all, he was a friend; he never felt too important to say hello or to stop and talk to a student. In fact, in the earlier years of his career he wore a dink with the freshmen, attended the majority of athletic events, and even led some pep rallies. In recent years his most famous student contact was waterskiing.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The WESTMINSTER COLLEGE BOARD OF TRUS-TEES is made up of 28 members, 20 of whom are elected by the board and 8 by alumni.

Of the Board's many functions, the most important this year was the selection of the new College President. The Board also has eharge of the budget, including appropriations for salaries, allotments for scholarships, and funds for building eonstruction. The College's statement of policy originates with the Board members, who also study real estate prior to making suggestions for new facilities, and who approve degrees.

The executive committee has frequent meetings during the year in addition to the three stated Board meetings in Oetober and Mareh and on Commencement Day.

The new addition to the library has doubled book capacity, improved study conditions, and provided space for several specialty rooms. The total stack area now has an estimated capacity of 180,000 volumes. The new study facilities include several new tables and over a hundred individual carrels. The main study areas have been carpeted, reducing noise considerably, while the lighting has also been improved. The Westminster Room contains college publications, theses, and historical items. The curriculum library houses the old children's library and a textbook collection. Other new rooms include a fine arts room, a typing room, a government publications room, and a faculty study.

Holdings of the library have also increased. The book collection now totals 85,000 volumes. The magazine section, which is now open to the public, has 600 current subscriptions and a total of almost 100 different magazines. Over 80 periodicals and miscellany are now in the microfilm, microfiche, and microcard collections.

The Art Department has found the third floor of the Arts and Science building a big improvement over the old art building. These expanded facilities have made separate graphics, metal work, and ceramics studios possible for the first time. The new art seminar room houses the beginnings of an art library and a slide collection which Mr. Hild has already doubled. The addition of the department dark room will make photography courses possible in the near future.

The Art Gallery held more shows this year because of an increased budget. Most important were the Rouault, the Ghent Gallery, and the Butler Institute Shows. The gallery also housed the traditional senior and "clothes line" student shows.

The department sponsored both a trip to Frank Lloyd Wright's Falling Water and the movie The Birth of a Nation.

Mr. Larson received his Doctor of Education degree from Columbia this year. Mr. Hild, Mr. Oestreich, and Mr. Larson exhibited in several shows, most important of which was Mr. Hild's painting in the American Water Color Society Show.

The Biology Department has introduced a new curriculum this year. Emphasis has been switched to an analytical biology. These courses will prepare students for teaching, graduate study, and various professional schools.

Facilities and equipment have also seen a faee lifting. A new lab, ineubator rooms, and new storage rooms have been added through a governmental grant. The department purehased approximately $30,000 worth of equipment, including teletronix oscilloscopes and an autoclave. However, the present location of the department is still cramped and outmoded, and everyone involved is looking forward to the proposed addition to the science hall.

Mr. William Harvey attended a summer institute at Oak Ridge, Tennessee last summer. Dr. Gese will attend a similar one this year at Williams College, Williamstown, Massachusetts, on The Organism: Its Development, Behavior, and Ecology.

CHEMISTRY

The Westminster Chemistry Department places its emphasis on principles and concepts in addition to details and applications. Students enroll in a variety of courses stressing the fundamentals of modern chemistry. In addition, they are encouraged to undertake short-term research projects. The program has produced excellent results; graduates have excellent records in industry and graduate education. The department is now approved by the American Chemical Society.

The Chemistry Department faculty are active in research, graduate study, and professional organizations. Dr. DeWitt and Mr. Stanclift both are using research grants. Mr. Long is completing his doctoral studies at Ohio State. Dr. Warrick is presently chairman of the Penn-Ohio Border Section of the American Chemical Society.

ECONOMICS and BUSINESS

This department's objective is to help the student develop the critical and analytical skills necessary for understanding of ceonomic problems and institutions both in their historical setting and under conditions of change. Accordingly, the department offers a theoretical and pragmatic core of courses which will prepare the student for graduate work in economics and business as well as for careers in teaching, research, and business.

In order to better fulfill these objectives, the department has made several improvements this year. They partially filled their equipment needs by purchasing five typewriters and two ealeulators. The business education lab was transferred to more spacious quarters in Old Main. Two new courses were added in economies: Intermediate Microeconomie Theory and Intermediate Macroeconomie Theory. Also, a requirement of a semester of ealeulus has been passed for Economies majors.

EDUCATION and PSYCHOLOGY

The study of psychology increases the student's understanding of himself and his relation to others, in addition to providing insights into the science of behavior. One of the basic goals of education is to increase understanding, making the two subjects' interrelation both profound and significant.

Courses offered by the department enable students of virtually every major to fulfill requirements for teaching in the seeondary schools of Pennsylvania and surrounding states. In addition majors are offered in elementary education and psychology. The department feels that its courses contribute to the better education and the overall preparation of the individual.

In the near future the department plans to increase the size of the psychology lab and also add a guidance and counseling lab. A large amount of new material on tests and testing has been purchased. The department members have attended an increased number of professional meetings this year enabling them to keep up with current developments in their fields. Dr. Henderson has also accepted the Presidency of Pennsylvania Association of Liberal Arts Colleges.

Westminster's English major enables students to study literature and composition beyond the elementary levels of the all-college requirements. The department's main emphasis is on American and English literature, but supplementary courses are offered in grammer, creative writing, and literary criticism. Majors are required to take a variety of courses under several different professors who introduce them to the main periods and authors of Anglo-American literature.

Majors upon graduation are ready to enter the leading graduate schools or to begin eareers in teaching, library work, publishing, governmental service, or similar careers requiring a literary background.

Mr. Horn will spend this summer working on his doctorate at the University of Maryland. He should receive the degree in the near future. Others in the department doing work toward advanced degrees this summer include Mr. Brown at Kentucky, Miss James at Pitt, and Mr. Gamble at Pitt.

HISTORY, POLITICAL SCIENCE and SOCIOLOGY

The History program at Westminster acquaints students with the development of world civilization and presents them with the background of current problems. The largest concentration of courses is in United States and European history, but introductory courses are available in most important areas.

Political science introduces the student to politics on local, state, national, and international levels. Ideal and actual forms of government are covered. The Washington Semester Program at American University enables students to observe the federal government first hand. Students participating this year are Karen Barnhart, Joyce Carney, and Ann Hope.

Sociology courses introduce Westminster students to the works of the most important social theorists both past and present. Practical courses explaining important research in varied facets of our society are also offered. A third type of course introduces the students to the methods of statistics and research and helps prepare the major for his required thesis.

Dr. Swanhart is on Sabbatical leave to participate in the Academic Administration Internship Program of the American Council on Education at the University of Massachusetts. Dr. Wolcott received his Ph.D. this year from Columbia.

Two professors are retiring this year, Miss Ligo, French; and Mr. Wiley, Spanish. The office of ancient languages is still in Old Main. Dr. Turner this year became Editor for the Atlantic States of the Classical Journal. He has also assumed the presidency of the Pennsylvania State Association of Classical Teachers. This summer he will attend an institute at the University of Minnesota dealing with junior high Latin.

Members of the department who have done recent study toward advanced degrees include Mr. Cummins, at Michigan, Miss Macfarlane at Minnesota, Mr. Herrig at Pittsburgh, and Mr. Scwall at Inter-American University in Satillo, Mexico.

MATHEMATICS

The addition this year of two new faculty members to the Department of Mathematics is indicative of the growing importance of mathematics in Westminster's academic scheme. Many of the natural and social sciences now require their majors to take some of the department's upper level courses. For example, physics majors are now taking a minimum of 21 hours offered by the department. The number of math majors has been growing steadily, as next year fifty freshmen will begin their college study in math.

This year the department offered a course in applied mathematics which required the use of the IBM 1130 computer installation at the Youngstown-Vienna Airbase. Next year a similar computer will be on campus as applied math courses will be expanded to consider the computer applications in such fields as psychology, business, and economies.

Graduates from Westminster's math department are finding highly diversified employment opportunities open to them as an increasing number of them go directly into fields which make use of computer science. Others, of course, go into employment in fields traditionally associated with math: operational research, business, government, teaching, and graduate work.

Mr. Ocock is serving as acting chairman of the Music Department while Mr. Martin is completing his advanced studies. Several improvements have been made during his tenure. A new concert grand piano and a practice pipe organ have been installed. A harpsicord was constructed by some interested students and is now in regular use.

The department has comparatively small classes and much individual instruction. Performance is also possible through recital classes, choir, band, orchestra, various small ensembles, and dramatic productions. Each senior as well as several underclassmen presents a recital. Added experience is also gained by a large number of music students as choir directors, soloists, and organists in nearby churches and synogogues.

Faculty members who have done recent advanced study include Mr. Martin at the University of Cincinnati, Mr. Ocock at the University of Missouri, Mrs. Schoenhard at Peabody Institute, Mr. Chenevey at Eastman, and Mr. Reid at Boston University.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Almost all Westminster students must take two years of physical education before they graduate. Classes meet three periods per week, often one for swimming and two for other activities. Women choose among tennis, volleyball, soccer, gymnastics, field hockey, golf, and archery. Men participate in football, airball, basketball, running, tumbling, and wrestling in the appropriate seasons. Men not enrolled in swimming either lift weights or take third period activity. The department also sponsors an extensive program of intramural athletics for both men and women.

All intercollegiate sports are under this department's direction. Men participate in baseball, basketball, crosscountry, football, golf, swimming, tennis, track, and wrestling. Women's extramural sports include basketball, hockey, swimming, volleyball, and tennis.

A student majoring in the Department of Physics will receive a Bachelor of Science degree. The student begins with general physics in his freshman year and takes additional courses in optics, electronics, electro-magnetic theory, atomic physics, and nuclear physics. For the first time next year, the department will also offer a course in quantum mechanics. Courses in mathematics and chemistry are also a part of the program. The Physics Department believes that this will provide the pupil with a good background in classical and modern physics.

Mr. Heard attended a National Science Federation seminar at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, for cight weeks last summer. Studying quantum mechanics and nuclear physics, he learned to operate nuclear equipment. Another department member, Mr. Floyd Zehr, earned his Ph.D. at Syracuse University.

Four major programs, religion, philosophy, theology, and Christian education, help the students under this department's jurisdiction prepare for graduate school and careers in Christian service. Through religion courses students can gain increased Biblical knowledge and a sense of relative importance in addition to an introduction to other faiths. The philosophy courses acquaint the student with the great thinkers and systems of thought of the past. The theology major emphasizes both Biblical studies and philosophy. Christian education majors combine religion courses with education courses and an apprenticeship to prepare themselves for positions as Church educators.

Dr. Jack B. Rogers, an instructor in philosophy, received his Ph.D. from the Free University of Amsterdam and returned to teaching second semester. Mr. Robert Coughenour, an instructor in religion, is spending the year in advanced study at Western Reserve University.

Mr. Robert Dorrell Assistant Professor

SPEECH and DRAMA

The Department of Speech and Drama also moved to the Arts and Science Building this year where they now occupy the radio studio, the Beeghly Theater, and many of the classrooms on the first floor. This move made the addition of clinic rooms and a seminar room possible. The clinic rooms are used by the speech correction and oral interpretation classes, while the seminar room primarily houses the debate team.

The Beeghly Theater bears little resemblance to the old Little Theater. In fact, it would be possible to place the entire old theater on the stage of the new one and still be able to walk around the outside. Dressing rooms, ample flyspace, and a lobby are available for the first time. The scene shop is adjacent to the stage instead of in a shack halfway across eampus. Also, the sound and lighting are now controlled from the back of the theater, enabling the crew to see and hear the effects they are producing.

Meeting monthly THE FACULTY FORUM is composed of faculty and staff members of Westminster College, who wish to relate their discipline to Christianity by engaging in inter-disciplinary conversations through the study and discussion of books and papers by well-known authors. This year they discussed "Foreign Policy and Christan Perspective" by John Bennett Coleman.

The CAMPUS CLUB is composed of 177 women of the faculty and staff and the wives of faculty and staff members. It is an informal social organization which meets four times a year to aequaint new faculty and staff people with those already settled here. This year their meetings were highlighted by speakers who have discussed topics ranging from history, to travel, to "Save Me a Place in Forest Lawn." The Campus Club held their annual luncheon at the Tavern this spring, and were entertained by Dr. Hawkinson's anecdotes about her trips to Europe.

THE WESTMINISTER SCHOOL YEAR BEGAN TRA-DITIONALLY WITH FRESHMAN WEEK AND HELL WEEK. Freshmen heard Dr. Orr's annual speeches, learned each other's first names, and ended the week with a dance. Hell week featured name eards, dinks, and razzing once again. New additions included kissing the sacred tree, carrying dictionaries, and wearing raincoats at the proper times. The week ended with the burning of name eards in a bonfire by the lake.

HOMECOMING COINCIDED WITH ONE OF NEW WILMINGTON'S FEW SUNNY DAYS. This year's floats and dorm decorations, using T.V. shows as a theme, added color and humor to the day's festivities. The game, using the term loosely, was won by Westminster 54-0. At halftime eontest winners were announced. Carole Cook, representing independent women, was crowned homeeoming queen. Chi Omega's float took first place in the women's division and Theta Chi's won in the men's division. Shaw was first in the dorm decoration competition with The Emerald City.

THE PERFORMANCE PORTION OF THE ARTIST-LECTURE SERIES featured eight musical concerts and one dramatic production. The series began in October with the Orchestra da Camera, Accademia Musicale Napoletana, who presented an evening of chamber music. The Oberlin Wind Quintet, pianist Boyce Reid, cellist Allen Sher performed during November. In February a program of reading entitled "An Evenings Frost" and a concert of chamber music were presented. During April there were performances by organist Donald McDonald and Mctropolitan Opera authority Boris Goldovsky.

THERE WERE ONLY TWO LECTURERS CONNECTED WITH THE ARTIST-LECTURE SERIES this year, but various campus organizations made up for the lack of famous speakers with a variety of interesting ones. Abdul Ghafur Seikh and Wing-Tsit Chan were the two speakers in the series. Mr. Seikh, a Moslem, spoke on Oriental religion, and Dr. Chan, a Danforth scholar, spoke on Chinese thought and culture. Other speakers included Dr. Robert Hingson, who showed slides of the medical mission "Operation Brother's Brother"; Dr. Addison Leitch, who spoke on "Sophists, Sophomores, and Sophisticates"; Dr. Chad Walsh, who talked about contemporary trends in poetry; Kip Wagner, who told of his experiences in treasure hunting, and the Rev. Mr. Jimmy Joe Robinson, who spoke on race relations with emphasis on Presbyterian colleges.

ACTION AND RELEVANCE TO MODERN LIVING WERE THE GOALS of this year's Spiritual Emphasis Week chairmen Gary Collins and Sally Farr. Hoping to make the week more meaningful, practical theology was combined with art, folk musie, jazz, and drama. With this broader aim, SEW took on new force this year. Dr. Edwin Fairman was guest speaker. The event was highlighted with selections from "for Heaven's Sake," a contemplator's coffee house with live entertainment, and a "eynic's hour" for the doubting and wondering.

Ready for Fall Retreat

THE ANNUAL WEEKEND MIGRATION TO CAMP LUTHERLYN IN OCTOBER was a success despite unreliable weather and doubtful faculty and student participation. About one hundred students attended. This year's theme was "Christ—the authority for Life." Led by Reid Carpenter the discussion groups led to extended debates and tremendous individual response. On the lighter side there was tag football, volleyball, basketball to play, and Dr. Hummel's nature study which rounded out the afternoon.

CHAPEL THIS YEAR was reorganized with Tuesday and Thursday as worship services, Monday as assemblies, and Wednesday as speakers of religious topics. Included among the assemblies were the student eouncil election speeches and a recognition of Dr. and Mrs. Orr by the student body.

AMONG THIS YEAR'S SPECIAL ASSEMBLIES WERE SPRING AND FALL HONORS CONVOCATIONS and the athletic awards assemblies. Harry S. Manley, president of Muskingham College was the speaker in the fall. Eichenhauer dormitory was dedicated during this assembly. Clarence Long, a high school principal was the speaker at the Spring assembly. Athletes were recognized at assemblies in the fall and in the spring.

1966-67 WAS THE FIRST SEASON FOR THE NEW BEEGHLY THEATER. It proved to be a successful season with the new facilities in the theater. A fitting production to open the season was Shakespeare's Macbeth. Directed by Dr. Burbick, department head, the play was made unique with the two leads imported. Jim Elder, Westminster alumnus, played Maebeth, and Joy Tobin, prominent New Wilmington actress, portrayed Lady Maebeth. The other members of the east were chosen from the student body. Scniors Rebeeea Byerly and Yvonne Unger were the assistant director and stage manager-production head, respectively. The entire cast and crew succeeded in putting forth all possible effort to start the season with a memorable production.

The second play of the scason brought to the Westminster audience a relatively new production form known as Readers' Theater. The curtain opened to reveal six figures scated on stools and reading from prepared manuscripts. During the production the readers became a variety of characters, and with a minimum of properties the setting appeared only in the minds of the audience. I Knock at the Door is Paul Shyre's adaption of an autobiographical novel by noted Irish playwright Sean O'Casey, and its theme deals with the true meaning of love and human compassion. Appreciative audiences welcomed the addition of Reader's Theater to Westminster

A CHANGE IN LITTLE THE-ATER PRODUCTIONS WAS HAROLD PINTER'S THE CARE-TAKER, directed by Mr. Vander-Yacht. A contemporary play of the Theater of the Absurd movement, it was provocative and entertaining, charged with profound and elusive undercurrents. The plot concerns two brothers who give shelter to an old tramp, who in turn tries to take over. Thought-provoking as well as entertaining, the play was a challenge to both cast and audience, forcing them to make their own interpretations and find the meaning of The Caretaker for them individually.

NEAR THE BEGINNING OF THE SECOND SEMESTER, RUSH FORMALLY BEGAN. Smokers, sentimental parties, and all night cut sessions ended in celebration and heartbreak as bids came out and new pledges were welcomed. After the excitement died down, the new Greeks endured the pledge period to become active members of their respective organizations.

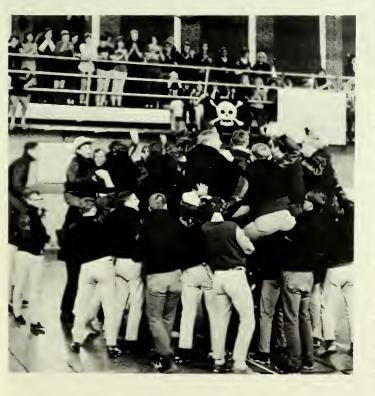

SEVERAL WEEKEND ACTIVITIES are well on their way to becoming Westminster traditions. Phi Kappa Tau sponsored a greased pig contest which was won by Kappa Delta. Siglympies was rained out. The Sigma Nu volleyball tournament was won by Sigma Kappa and Phi Kappa Tau. The annual Alumni-Jayvee basketball game was won by the Alumni as usual. The mermaid show had Growing Pains for its theme. The Student Council Bridge Tournament was won by Dale Swift, Jim Ieardi, John Blackburn and Jim Sloan. The Holcad Pool Tournament was never completed.

SPRING WEEKEND OPENED WITH AN OLD-TIME FASIIION SHOW. Entries included everything from cavemen to the miniskirt. Commenting on the display was Mr. Chris Brown, of the English department, who was a definite Ep pleaser. Friday night featured the rhythm and blues pianos of Louie Favors, Sweet Pea, and Cy. Saturday afternoon students participated in football or rugby, volleyball, and swimming. The defending champs lost early and Chi Omega and Phi Tau emerged victorious. The Association performed in the early evening and the weekend was completed with a tub dance afterwards.

THE FALL BIG NAME ENTERTAINMENT gave the eollege a wide-eyed look at the prostitution of estheticism. For the first time in her 114 year history, W.C. was exposed to the licentiousness of the secular world. The adopted children of Mother Fair were subjected to the degenerately vulgar, high velocity bumps and grinds of a richly endowed, seantily clad GO-GO GIRL—live and on stage at the Will W. Orr Auditorium. The students in attendance were spared further harm by the prompt and prudent action of Miss Antes. An unfortunate misunderstanding developed, however, as Miss Antes' much appreciated censorship was described, through a typograpical error in the Holcad, as prudish. Despite this victory over the libertines, the Student Council lost some $3000 on the show which also featured Chuck Berry, the Vibrations, and the Coasters.

which also featured Chuck Berry, the Vibrations, and the Coasters.

The Spring Entertainment offered five fully attired young gentlemen who call themselves the Association. Their lilting choir-boy voices sung the non-suggestive lyries of today's popular music. This show, financially and morally was a spectacular success.

EVENTS OCCUR EVERY YEAR WHICH ARE WORTH RECORDING BUT THAT DO NOT FIT into a category. John Robison's excellent library in philosophy won first prize in the Senior Library Contest. Westminster finally had a debate on the war in Vietnam. Registration had its normal bogdowns. There were tub dances and pranks. Student-Administration relations were at their usual low level, and finally, what photographer can resist a shot of girls sunbathing.

MAJORS IN SPEECH, ART, AND MUSIC ARE RE-QUIRED TO PRESENT A SENIOR PROJECT. Senior art majors each have a show in the college art gallery. Music majors give senior recitals at various times during the year. Senior speech majors each direct a one-act play. These activities climax four years of work and show others what the participant has accomplished. PARENT'S DAY BROUGHT WEST-MINSTER'S PRESIDENT-ELECT, DR. EARLAND CARLSON to campus. He met students and parents in the morning and gave a short, impressive speech at the chapel. Rain forced the crowning of Jennifer Miller as May Queen inside and the cancellation of athletic events, but all other events including the May Dance proceeded as scheduled. The clothes line art show was very successful as were the women's physical education revue and the American Chemical Society Open House.

THE SING AND SWING PROGRAM WAS A PLEASANT CHANGE FROM PREVIOUS YEARS. All Greek Organizations with one exception and an independent group each sang two songs from a Broadway musical. Sigma Nu chose not to sing because several words of one of their songs were censored at the last minute by the dean of sudents. Marilyn Nile and Eric Burns did short humorous skits between groups. The act by Sigma Phi Epsilon, was done in jest and left everyone in a good mood.

GRADUATION WEEKEND BEGAN WITH A BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS by Reverend Dale Milligan. He urged the graduates to keep up with change, for change is another word for life. At the graduation exercises degrees were awarded to over 250 undergraduates and 200 graduates although not all attended. Honorary degrees were also presented to one politician, two preachers, and one reading expert. Governor Shafer spoke on the sensitivity that citizens must have to the scientific revolution, the population explosion, poverty, and individual freedom. The class gift was presented by Eric Burns. The students joined their waiting families; the maintenance men removed the chairs and equipment. Westminster had said goodby to the graduates — at least until the next alumni letter or building fund.

GRADUATING

Since September of 1963 the class of nineteen hundred sixty-seven has seen many changes in Westminster College. Educational facilities were improved with the addition to McGill Library and the building of the classroom wing of the Arts and Science Building. Many student leaders emerged from the senior class to contribute to the progress being made in academic and social life. At Commencement, class president Eric Burns presented a gift of money to the College from the class of '67 to be used toward the Field House Completion Fund.

JUNIOR CLASS

Prior to its last year at the top of the Westminster scale, the Junior Class showed its aptitude for leadership as three juniors ran for the highest office in the school, more than have run in several years. Evidence of leadership was shown elsewhere as Mortar Board and ODK members were chosen. The Junior Class contributed to royalty this year. Carole Cook was chosen for Homecoming Queen and Jennifer Miller reigned on Parents' Day as May Queen.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomores, still remembering their year at the bottom, combined Hell Week razzing with sympathetic Orientation Week aid. The Cwens and Thanes arrived early to guide and direct freshmen and to sponsor a get-acquainted dance in Old 77. With half of their college career over, the Class of '69 has shown itself to be ambitious and successful in all phases of college life. Three of its members were elected to Student Council offices this year.

FRESHMAN CLASS

After the initial period of adjustment — unpacking, tests, Hell Week — the Freshman Class proved itself to be a worthy contributor to the Westminster community. The Freshman girls at Shaw captured 1st prize in the Homecoming dorm decorating contest while the second float to be built by a freshman class was exhibited in the parade. Three spunky frosh men donated their first class gift — a Blue Bathtub. The freshmen show potential leadership qualities in student activities and 17 of its girls were chosen for Cwens while a similar number of boys became Thanes.

Student Council

LE AUERSIIIP

THE STUDENT COUNCIL this year followed proud precedents. The ostensible purpose of student council is to represent the student body in dealing with the administration. This season the council slipped a few key skeets past the administration shotgun. Two examples of these were the Bulletin Board in front of the Tub, and co-educational dining. Several proposals were not so lucky and got shot down — the safety handrail on the Russell Hill, the Coke machine in the library basement, and cigarette machines in the men's dorms. Student council debate ranged from the safety concern of having a protruding suggestion box to the advisability of singing to the parents a song with the nasty word "bastard" in it. Fiscally the Student Council rode a financial roller-coaster, losing a nice piece of change on the Chuck Berry show while showing a tidy profit from the Association and the Harlem Travelers. This year's council, of course, enjoyed the traditional success of Homecoming, Spring Weekend, Tub Dances and foreign students.

ADVISORS: Miss Antes, Mr. Ireland; Mr. Kilhefner, FACULTY REPRESENTATIVE

GREEK REPRESENTATIVES: SEATED-c. king, j. hepburn, d. nelson, p. wright. STANDING-p. pierce, m. rice, m. smith, m. hannigan, a. waetig, r. hannigan, j. blackburn.

INDEPENDENT REPRESENTATIVES: c. zimmerman, g. shields, b. smith, c. cook, b. burgess, j. turner (missing).

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL – ROW ONE: d. leith, sec'y, a. luce, pres.; mr. ireland, adv.; j. appelt, v. pres. ROW TWO: b. rcames, j. biel, j. sloan, p. finn, d. ricketts. ROW THREE: c. manos, b. willison, b. thompson, j. warnock.

In order to unify and co-ordinate the activities of Westminster's five national fraternitics, INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL meets bi-monthly with three members from each group. Although Greek Weekend and the IFC King campaigns were lacking this year, IFC was busy organizing intramural sports, helping plan Homecoming, and overseeing rush activities.

Under the advisorship of Mr. Ireland, IFC encourages friendly communication and brotherhood among the five separate groups.

Panhellenic Council

The PANHELLENIC COUNCIL has the purpose of maintaining the "Greek" system on Westminster's Campus and of improving relations among the Greeks and between the Greeks and the administration. The most important responsibilities of Pan Hel during the year is to organize and regulate rush. The council consists of three representatives from each of the seven sororities and is advised by Dean Antcs and Mrs. Anna McKibben.

Student Conduct

The STUDENT CONDUCT COMMITTEE'S avowed purpose is to take judicious disciplinary action in the Christian tradition against those miscreant students who have thoughtlessly violated Westminster College's time-tested, truly traditional conduct regulations. Those who get eaught are brought before the benevolent committee for discussion of the problem and declaration of the penalties. This year, as always, problems concerning student consumption of beverages with an alcoholic content of 3.2% or more have been most popular. Much to the breathless disappointment of Westminster's student gourmets, the committee has not as yet given a definite statement of policy on the consumption of Burgundy ice cream, cherries jubilee or rum cake.

Women's Senate

SENATE is the governing body of Westminster's women students. It is composed of representatives from each dorm, sorority, and class. The Senate's principal purpose is to supervise the actions of the house council of each women's residence. In addition to this duty, the Senate meets each Spring in conjunction with the Dean of Women to review and discuss possible revision of the rules in the student handbook. This is to facilitate proper definition of and consequent compliance with the school's stated policies.

FIRST SEMESTER EDITOR AND MANAGING EDITOR: Dick Sindall, Virginia Mayo

The first semester, Dick Sindall resumed his position from the preceding spring as editor of HOLCAD, and carried the paper until the end of his term of office, in January.

Spring 1967 saw the emergence of a very new Holcad under the editorship of Cheryl Davis. From the physical setup — new paper, new type, a variety of mastheads — to the additions of regular new columns, new cartoons and liberalization of content, the paper was a definite change from any Holcad within student memory. Cheryl managed to finance four six-page editions without tossing the budget onto the national debt pile; and people found themselves reacting to tightly written editorials, a photographic essay, a world news column undertaken weekly by our student from Kenya, crack sports writeups, poetry, a campus organizational column including all student groups, and an interview with Joan Baez. Holcad was becoming a truly student newspaper.

The theme of the ARGO '67, if one wants to find one, must be creativity and innovation. It is creativity expressed in the use of color effects, in the new approach to layout and design, and in the new ways of presenting old material. It is innovation stressed in order to produce an ARGO '67 that is an exciting new book, totally different from its predecessors. Along with an increasing number of students and the activities in which they participate, the ARGO '67 too must expand in size and concept. Expansion means more time added to the infinite hours of cropping, typing, and proofreading. Hard work and help from many people have made the finished product possible. The ARGO '67 is hopefully the tangible result of the ideas and ideals of the Staff and the Editor, an accurate record of the year 1966-67, and a true reflection of the College.

To stimulate dramatic work on campus, to reward outstanding student achievement in theater, and to give its members an appreciation and understanding of the theater are the main purposes of ALPHA PSI OMEGA. Membership is determined by points earned for work in Little Theater productions. The group's activities, besides work in theatrical productions, are a Christmas chapel, an annual spring banquet, and entertaining programs once a month at the advisors' homes.

For members who have shown particular interest and achievement, membership in MASQUERS is awarded. Each year Masquers gives acting awards at the spring banquet. One of the largest, most active honoraries on campus, DELTA PHI ALPHA, the German honorary, requires an all college 2.75 average and a 3.0 in two years of German or one year of 300-level German. Like the other language honoraries, this group works to promote an interest in the culture and language of the country on which its interests are centered. In order to gain greater understanding of and appreciation for the German language, members of Delta Phi Alpha attend monthly meetings which are conducted in German. In addition to these meetings, various programs are presented throughout the year such as movies, slides of travel abroad, and speakers. As usual, the spring initiates met with the group for the first time at the home of their advisor, Mr. Biberich. The annual book award given to the senior who has shown the most interest and scholarship in German went to Don Miller. The group closed out a busy year with their initiation banquet held at the Wilmington Grange.

Eta Sigma Phi

ETA SIGMA PHI, the classical language honorary, requires a 3.0 four semester average in the classical languages for membership. The organization's purpose is to recognize scholarship and to stimulate interest in the classics. Activities this year included the initiation dinner at the home of Dr. Turner, co-sponsorship of a special meeting of the combined language honoraries at which Dr. George Clemens spoke on the French poet, Julian Greene, and attendance at the New Castle Playhouse's production of a "Funny Thing Happened To Me On The Way To The Forum." This play was of particular interest because it is taken in part from the comedies of the Roman playwright Plautus.

KAPPA DELTA PI, an honor society in education, aims to further the ideals of higher education and to recognize those who have maintained high scholastic standards. The members meet once a month in the home of their advisor, Dr. Cockerille in an attempt to obtain insights into the problems and opportunities in the teaching profession. Membership requirements are a 3.0 all college average and enrollment in a prescribed program of teacher education. At the Spring Honors Convocation the golden apple award is presented to the senior elementary and secondary education majors with the highest averages in educations. The apples were won this year by Carol Anderson and Don Miller.

KAPPA MU EPSILON, the national mathematics honorary, is the oldest honorary on campus, having a history that dates from 1928. Westminster's Alpha Chapter now has 34 members who meet four times a semester to discuss unusual mathematical topics that, due to their esoteric nature, are not covered in the classroom. Thus KAPPA MU EPSILON'S aim is to whet the mathematical appetite of the superior student. Initiation into KAPPA MU EPSILON comes to those students who have completed three semesters of the calculus maintaining at least a 3.0 to accompany a 2.8 all college average. The Alpha Chapter gave Paul Smith the annual award as outstanding freshman mathematics student.

Mu Delta Epsilon

MU DELTA EPSILON is Westminster's preministerial honorary. Membership in the honorary is open to junior preministerial students who have a 3.0 major average and a 2.5 all college. Mu Delta Epsilon has two purposes: To honor the academic achievements of its members and to encourage its members in the pursuit of ideals suited to the Christian ministry. In a small way, Mu Delta Epsilon aims to encourage the development of logical reasoning in the minds of preministerial students. This is accomplished by holding discussions which require the participants to be conversant with contemporary social issues and theological trends. It is hoped that this will bring members of Mu Delta Epsilon to exhibit a high degree of relevance in their eventual ministries.

MU PHI EPSILON, a professional music sorority, requires a 2.75 all college average and a 3.0 in music for membership. In addition to the academic requirements, the sorority requires musicianship, character, and personality of its prospective members. Activities during the year included a conservatory party and a morning worship service at the Bessemer United Presbyterian Church given in Memory of Rev. Hoover Picklesimer. Karen Hogue attended the national convention in Seattle as a representative of the local chapter. Mary Jane Royal received the outstanding senior award. The group closed out the year by giving a party for seniors.

Phi Sigma Tau

The national philosophy honorary, PHI SIGMA TAU, exists at Westminster for the study and encouragement of philosophy and philosophical questions of every nature. Requirement for associate membership is a 4.0 in three hours of philosophy, while a full member must have maintained at least a 3.0 through six hours. Throughout the academic year the honorary works in association with professional philosophical organizations, as well as entertaining speaker during regular meetings. Mr. A. Dewey Jensen spoke on the philosopher, Wittgenstein, and Dr. Jack Rogers on his doctoral thesis, recently completed. The book award to the outstanding senior philosophy major was presented to John Robison.

PI DELTA PHI is a national French honorary whose purpose is to promote an appreciation of and an affection for the French language and culture. Membership requirements for Westminster's Delta Rho chapter, installed in 1966, include the completion of a 300 level French course with a cumulative 3.0 in French and a 2.8 all college. The members meet monthly in the homes of the advisors Dr. Clemens, Miss Ligo, and Miss Macfarlane. This spring the group presented its annual award to Sharon Holt, the most outstanding senior French major, while the group as a whole won the Pi Delta Phi scholastic award for leading the national in academic achievement.

SCROLL, the English honorary, has the purpose of providing a meeting ground and atmosphere in which students of literature can freely discuss subjects of common interest. With this objective in mind, many members work on and contribute to Scrawl, the campus literary magazine. The organization also presents an award for the best poetry in each issue of Scrawl. Winners this year were Gary Gillard and Glenn Dawson. The year's activities included trips to plays and poetry readings, the most notable of which was Russian poet Yevgeny Yeutushenko's reading of his own works.

After a slow start this year, RHO GAMMA, a local honor society for Business Education majors was reorganized under the advisorship of Miss Hileman. The group strives to create interest in their field as well as high scholastic achievement.

Sigma Delta Pi

For students who are interested in the Spanish language and culture, the Epsilon Tau chapter of SIGMA DELTA PI offers lectures by native Spaniards, folk songs, and a Christmas party where Spanish customs such as the pinata are observed. To be eligible for the Westminster chapter which was organized in 1965, a Spanish student must be a sophomore with a 3.0 in Spanish and at least a 2.8 all college average. This year, Dr. George Clemens, of the French Department was made an honorary member of Sigma Delta Pi in recognition of his many years of experience in teaching Spanish and Portugese. Cwens CWENS, the national sophomore women's honor society, is composed of those sophomore women who had shown themselves to be outstanding in character, leadership, service, and scholarship during their freshman year. The members of the local society serve the college not only during freshman orientation week, but also throughout the year as tutors, usherettes, and tour guides. As a group, the Cwens sponsor a loan fund and award a scholarship to the "Ideal Freshman Girl." This year the scholarship went to Sue Akerstrom.

Led by last year's "Ideal Freshman Girl", Beth Ann Houk, the Cwens sent delegates to the Cwens National Convention held at Northern Illinois University, and attended a district Cwens dinner at Grove City College.

THANES, the local sophomore men's honor society, has as its members those freshman men who ostensibly possess leadership qualities, are active in campus organizations, and have a 2.5 all college average. The THANES assist the college during freshman orientation and also provide a free tutoring service throughout the academic year. Each year the members hold a cake sale to finance their scholarship award to a deserving freshman. This year, however, the THANES were forced to find other means to sponsor the scholarship. It was a fine tribute to the ingenuity of this year's THANES that they were able to succeed in this endeavor despite the terrible hardship caused by the temporary closing of the Wilmington Bakery. This money for the scholarship was raised and Tom Pendergass was chosen as the recipient.

Campus Christian Forum

CAMPUS CHRISTIAN FORUM gives all interested Westminster College students opportunities in Christian service. The group's purpose as stated in its constitution is: "To provide an opportunity for spiritual strengthening and witness through on-campus and off-campus service and fellowship; to strive to exemplify the person and spirit of Christ in every aspect of life." The group sponsors service groups on both permanent and special bases. CCF Faith and Life groups discuss books and issues of current importance while co-rec nights provide recreational opportunities. The organization is currently in the process of correlating its programs with those programs of similar groups on other campuses.

In general the groups discuss problems of Christian living. In addition to the general topic, each of the eight groups discusses a different topic: Fletcher's Situation Ethics, C. S. Lewis', The Screwtape Letters, The Book of Revelation, world religions, Tournier's The Meaning of Persons, the racial crisis, and religious drama. Under direction of student leaders the groups have stimulated thought and action in an effort to understand the Christian way of life.

Vesper Choir

Westminster's CONCERT CHOIR, directed this year by Mr. Catherwood, found themselves in financial difficulty in the fall and were forced to forego their annual tour. This adversity, however, did not affect their performances as they were well received by area audiences in New Castle, Sharon, Pittsburgh and Ligonier. On campus the Concert Choir gave a Homecoming Concert, sang at the chapel given for Dr. Orr, presented a spring concert, and provided additional music at Vespers services. In fine financial fettle at the close of the school year, the choir looked forward to a traveling year in '67-'68.

The VESPER CHOIR, directed by Mrs. Schocnhard, is composed of 100 auditionselected members. Each week they provide music for the Sunday evening Vespers services. In addition to this main function, they present a Christmas candlelight service and a commencement concert.

, The WOMEN'S CHOIR under the direction of Dr. Pcabody, meets twice a week in an endeavor to increase their understanding of music and to become acquainted with some of the music written for women's choirs. The Women's Choir participates in the Christmas Vespers service and provides some of the music for the Tuesday morning devotional services.

Orchestra

The Westminster College ORCHES-TRA, under the direction of Mr. Paul Chenevcy, is made up of 40 members selected by audition. In a series of four concerts given throughout this year, the orchestra has performed a variety of music including from the Classical period "King Steven's Overture" by Beethoven and Mozart's "Symphony No. 41 in C" and from the 19th Century Romantic Period: "Childhood of Christ" by Berlioz, and Hansen's lush "Symphony No. 2". The orchestra also performed music from different countries including "Pelleas and Melesande" by the French composer Faure and "A Life for the Tsar Overture" by the Russian composer Glinka.

BON PASSE RECORDER CONSORT - c. steck, m. pohl, d. wolters, b. kelty, j. bump.

The BON PASSE RECORDER CONSORT is made up of six students who meet once a week for the purpose of playing and enjoying Medieval, Renaissance, and Elizabethan music. Another purpose is to acquaint others with the quality and worth of old music.

This year the group participated in the annual home-coming concert, gave programs for the American Guild of Organists in Youngstown, the New Wilmington Kiwanis and the Campus Club. During the holiday season they appeared with the Madrigal Group for a Christmas program on a Youngstown television station.

Music

Educator's

National Conference

The MUSIC EDUCATORS NATIONAL CONFERENCE has the purpose of interesting students in music education. To this end the local organization gave "Get Acquainted" parties for freshmen and held a membership drive that saw MENC reach a record size. Nine members and Dr. Peabody attended the state convention at Harrisburg, and the group saw the high school all-state chorus perform.

The Westminster CHAMBER SINGERS is a new group under the direction of Mrs. Carol Schoenhard. This select group of 15 musicians performs acapella madrigal music. For variety some of the vocalists perform music of other periods while accompanying themselves. These dual artists are John Miller on cello, Jim Bump and Doug Walters on recorders, Bev Kelty on harpsicord, and Marcia Pohl on flute. The Chamber Singers have performed both on campus and off. This year's presentations included a Christmas television program and programs for the Youngstown University A.G.O., New Wilmington Kiwanis, Campus Club, and the Sharon Rotary Club.

Westminster's branch of the AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS is composed of students who wish to augment their private organ studies with participation in the activities of AGO. This year the group attended several organ recitals in the area and helped sponsor the organ workshop at the college. The highlight of the year was a field trip to New York City over semester break. In New York the group heard Alec Wyton, national president of AGO, who spoke about church music.

New WilmingTen

The NEW WILMINGTEN is a group of ten women who enjoy singing. Their purposes are a good time, service, and personal enjoyment. The members of the group are selected on the basis of their voice qualities and blending and sight-reading abilities. This year the group performed off campus for the Beaver Kiwanis, the Hickory Women's Club, and the Lawrence County Association. They also gave a Christmas program and performed for Parents' Day.

Titanaires

The TITANAIRES, the Westminster women's precision drill team, is under the direction of captain Effic Bouloubasis and co-captain Jan Hill. The Titanaires provided half-time entertainment for football and basketball games, marched in the 1966 Homecoming Parade. They also performed on Parents' Day to the music of "The Girlwatchers' Theme." This was under the leadership of the new captain, Barb Wallace. The 24 are chosen on the basis of ability, poise, and appearance. Members who have belonged to the drill team for two or more years receive senior awards. The advisors are Miss Walker and Mrs. McFarland.

Cheerleaders

Willingness to devote long hours to practice is one of the principal prerequisites of a Titan CHEERLEADER. Generating enthusiasm at the football and basketball games, the ten girls kept spirits high throughout the entire year. Led by captain Sue Jones, the Cheerleaders were chosen from interested girls in all four classes who tried out in the fall.

The WOMEN'S RECREATIONAL ASSOCIATION, open to all undergraduate women, meets every other week in Old 77 to promote athletics, create a love of sports, and foster the ideals of sportsmanship. The group sponsors women's athletic tournaments within the school and with other colleges in volleyball, basketball, and hockey. WRA awards first and second places in intramurals. They also sponsored a slumber party for all women in Old 77 this year, and rented bikes and toboggans.

Varsity W

VARSITY W is the elite group of athletes who have earned the right to wear the Varsity W through participation in intercollegiate sports. To become eligible, an athlete must letter twice in one sport, once in two sports, or once in a sport having participated in for three years. The purpose of the organization is to keep intercollegiate sport in its proper place in education, and to stimulate high academic standards among Westminster athletes. The group participates in the football and basketball game programs, and is promoting the field-house completion fund. They also sponsor the annual MVP awards in all sports and give an award to the most promising freshman athlete.

MERMAIDS, a synchronized swimming club, is composed of upperclass women with at least 2.0 averages, chosen on a competitive basis. Tryouts are held in October after practice sessions supervised by the members of the club. Once new members have been selected practices for the show are begun. The girls work for weeks on drills selected for precision and skill. Around Christmas, a theme for the annual show is chosen and ideas for its development are discussed. After semester break the girls work hard on routines costuming and staging

School Days, Novelty Childhood, Junior High Days, Senior Prom, Sports, Graduation, College, Love, Marriage, Careers, and Dreams (solo done by senior member Beth Myers). The decorations and narration this year centered about Schultz's Peanut Characters. The show was presented March 8-11 and was a great success.

Young Women's

Christian Ass'n.

The YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION meets twice a month for the purpose of realizing a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God. Membership in YWCA is open to all interested women. Some of the activities which the "Y" sponsors are the Big and Little Sister program, the sending of magazines to men in Viet Nam, and sending delegates to the National Student Assembly in Boston. This year Westminster was represented there by Judy Palagallo.

Entertainment and new friendships characterized Big and Little Sis picnic.

Pennsylvania State Educators Ass'n.

The PENNSYLVANIA STATE EDUCATION ASSOCIATION has the purpose of portraying the ideals, ethics, history, and program of the organized teaching profession. This year the group sent representatives to the Allenberry Leadership Conference and the State Convention in Harrisburg. The regional banquet was held at the Tavern. Programs during the year included Mrs. Wolcott speaking on Special Education, Mrs. Hopkins on guidance, a "mock interview" with a high school principal, a panel discussion by student teachers, and a filmstrip on the Peace Corps. The organization observed Teacher Education Week with a special bulletin board, and closed out the year with the Spring Banquet.

Below – ACS-sponsored workshop brought area colleges together for speakers, demonstrations. The Westminster College chapter of the Student Affiliates of the AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY is composed of twelve chemistry majors who wish to become acquainted with aspects of chemistry not found in the classroom. Their monthly meetings are open to the public and include films, student discussions, and guest lecturers. This year the AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY presented the award to the outstanding junior chemistry major, Tim Schenz. Under advisors Dr. Percy Warrick and Mr. William Stanclift, ACS initiated a program which brought in chemistry majors from other colleges to report their research to the society.

Pre-Medical Society

The purpose of the PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY is to acquaint students of the medical sciences with the opportunities of their prospective fields: dentistry, medicine, veterinary medicine, and medical technology. The group sponsors speakers from the medical fields who present the views, obligations, and opportunities of their professions.

Dr. Iheanacho Nwokorie - African affairs

The POLITICAL RELATIONS CLUB, under the advisorship of Dr. Walter Slack, is one of the fastest growing and most popular organizations on campus. Its fifty members meet monthly to hear speakers discuss current political or social questions. Since controversy is the key to all PRC programs, it welcomes thought from all segments of the politico-socio spectra. This year the lecturers included, aside from the usual assortment of socialists and Birchers, Dr. Iheanacho S. Nwokorie, a Nigerian expert on African affairs, and J. A. Grant, an information officer from South Africa. The PRC spent much time this year in preparation for their quadrennial contribution to political unrest here in "Paradise" — the Mock Convention. This project, which never fails to fill the fieldhouse with stale smoke and trenchant speech, has enjoyed well deserved student support in the past. The PRC will make the 1968 convention no exception.

The Young Republicans, a subcommittee of PRC, was formed this year in preparation for the Mock Convention. Other such groups such as the Young Democrats or the Young Socialists are also potential outgrowths of PRC.

The SOCIOLOGY CLUB, comprised of students interested not only in sociology, but in relating fields, is open to all students. The group, under the advisorship of Dr. Wolcott, sponsors programs of interest throughout the year as well as the annual picnic held at the Wolcotts'. Among the many speakers brought into the meeting was Louie Favors, a senior.

WCEB

The college RADIO STATION moved to new headquarters this year in the basement of the Arts and Science Building. The new location with its control room, three studios, record library, news room, and office, has made a great improvement in the station's operation. Under the direction of Rick Packer, program director, and advisor, Mr. Stevens, the new station broadcast this spring for the first time on FM frequency. Students who work on the station take an examination for a 3rd class operator; the station itself holds an educational license having no commercials during broadcasts. "Wake-Up" music was planned for the early morning and educational material — a combination of music and discussion — for the evening.

Student Employment

A variety of STUDENT EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES are open to the Westminster student. Work in the cafeterias, the library, and at dormitory desks is perhaps the most popular with those who wish to help pay their way through college. In addition, many departments enlist students as assistants, secretaries and graders. Other miscellaneous jobs are open to all students in good academic standing.

STUDENTS GAINED FURTHER EDUCATION-AL EXPERIENCE OFF CAMPUS in several ways. The usual six weeks of student teaching required of all education majors meant bag lunches, lesson plans, and 7:00 a.m. breakfast. Three students studied in Washington, D. C., as part of the "Washington Semester" program at American University. Last year's members of the Junior Year Abroad program returned to eampus ready to relate their experiences to those of us back in good old New Wilmington.

The women of ALPHA GAMMA DELTA began this year's activities by entering a "Flipper" float in the Homecoming Parade and by choosing Judy Brown as their Homecoming Queen candidate. These events were followed by the annual Halloween Tunnel Party for the other soroities and a Halloween party for the children in the Mercer County Home for Crippled Children. Later in the fall the AG's won the volley ball trophy in women's intramurals. Through the winter and spring their activities included a Christmas formal at the Christys', participation in the Easter Seal Drive, and a shower given by the seniors, who presented many gifts to the chapter for the chapter room. After absorbing a heartbreaking 2-0 defeat at the hand of the Independent football team in the Spring Sports Weekend, the AG's prepared for Parents' Day and closed out the year with a very successful performance in the "Sing 'n' Swing".

Other first semester activities included a house party with the Alpha Gams, a paneake breakfast for the Greek women, and a Christmas formal at the Sharon Country Club. Besides sending Thanksgiving baskets to needy families, the Chi O's sent educational kits to the children of South Vietnam. Spring brought rush and a "mod" houseparty for the new pledges. They also sponsored their annual Easter egg hunt for faculty children, and a picnic for children from the Youngstown Settlement House. Towards the end of the year the Chi O's held their spring formal at the Sharon Country Club and took first prize in the Spring Sports Weekend. A Parents' Day Breakfast and Dinner and Sing 'n' Swing brought a most successful year to a close.

Delta Zeta

The women of DELTA ZETA began their activities this year by selecting Carole Figure as their Homecoming Queen candidate, and by entering their float in the Homecoming Parade. A busy year followed with the annual "Donut Dunk" for other sororities: a "Coffee Clatch" given for the women faculty members, librarians, housemothers, and Delta Zeta patronesses. The Delta Zetas had several philanthropic projects, including the sponsorship of a crippled boy. The sorority won second place in the volleyball intramurals, and received silver award at the national convention in the Bahamas for membership and activities. Their active year included a successful performance in Sing 'n' Swing and was highlighted by the annual spring formal held on the Gateway Clipper in Pittsburgh.

Kappa Delta

The women of KAPPA DELTA began the year with their annual Kickoff Dance before the first football game. At Homecoming, the KD's were represented by their queen candidate, Nancy Wise, and their float based on the television program "Honey West". In addition to their Christmas and Spring formals, the Kappa Deltas sponsored a Patronesses' Tea and a dessert for the other sororities. This year, besides participating in volleyball and basketball intramurals, the women of Kappa Delta won first prize in the inter-sorority greased pig contest which was sponsored by the Phi Tau's. As they do every year, the Kappa Deltas held a picnic for the children at the Mercer Orphanage and also sponsored a Peruvian orphan.

Phi Mu

Homecoming was a busy time for the women of PHI MU. Among their activities were the tea for alumni, a dinner for parents at the Shenango Inn, and their float, "Hustle Burry, Hound 'Em Down." To celebrate Halloween, the Phi Mu's held a house party in the Theta Chi chapter room. Lake Arthur Golf Club was the scene of an enjoyable Christmas Formal. The women of Phi Mu also held a dessert for the Greek women, participated in intramurals, and won the award for highest sorority scholarship during the semester. Second semester brought pledging, the spring Formal, house parties, Parents' Day Dinner, and the Phi Mu's part in Sing 'n' Swing.

Sigma Kappa

The year began for the women of SIGMA KAPPA with a second prize award for their float "Daise 'em Titans." Carole Woods represented the Sig Kaps in the Homecoming Court. A fall party for the Mars Children's Home, Christmas parties for the Almira and Overlook homes for the aged, house parties, a pizza party, and a spaghetti dinner kept the sorority busy during the first semester. Second semester activities included pledging the annual ice cream social, spring formal, first place in the Sigma Nu volleyball tourney, and a get-together with Sig Kap sisters from Thiel. A Parents' Day Dinner and the performance of selections from the "Fantastiks" in Sing 'n' Swing ended the year's activities.

Winning honorable mention for their Homecoming Float "My Favorite Titans Blast Off" opened a very successful year for all women of ZETA TAU ALPHA. Jean Kaulback represented the Zetas in the Homecoming Court. House parties and a Christmas Formal with the Zetas from Slippery Rock highlighted their social calendar. They also gave two parties for the Mercer Children's Home and contributed to their national philanthropic project for cerebral palsy. In February the Delta Omega chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha was recolonized. During the first semester the Zetas established the highest sorority average in Westminster's history with a 3.203. The year ended as the 16 new Zeta pledges remodeled the chapter room.

Alpha Sigma Phi

The men of ALPHA SIGMA PHI welcomed the freshman women to Westminster with a serenade outside the freshman dorms and their annual freshman tea. This year, Alpha Sig's B-League team received the interfraternity football trophy. Once again, the scholarship award was given to the fraternity at the fall honors convocation and again in the spring. With the house parties, Christmas formal, and rush, and winter season was hectic. In the spring, the Alpha Sigs' annual inter-sorority Siglympies was cancelled because of rain. The fraternity ended the year's activities with participation in Sing 'n' Swing and a Parents' Day luncheon.

Phi Kappa Tau

The men of PHI KAPPA TAU experienced a busy, active year. In the fall they held a tea for freshman women and an open house for freshman men. PKT entered a number of teams in all the intramurals, winning the field house volley-ball tournament. They also sponsored their annual greased pig contest for the sororities, held an open house for parents and alumni on Homecoming, and assisted the KD's in their orphan Christmas party and picnic. The Phi Taus added much to their physical plant this year as they made a new parking lot, remodeled their basement, painted the interior of the house, refurnished the study room, and planted greens outside the house. The year ended with first place in the spring sports weekend, Sing 'n' Swing, and the annual spring picnic at Mill Creek Park.

Sigma Nu, the oldest fraternity on campus, had another successful year of activities. The men of Sigma Nu represented themselves at Homecoming with their second prize winning float "Run For Your Life." A freshman tea and fall house parties added to their first semester activities. In addition to spring rush and pledging, the Snakes were busy with their annual volleyball tournament for students and faculty, the White Rose Coronation formal, and Sing and Swing. The Sigma Nus won the "A" league football championship by defeating the Sig Eps in a play off.

The men of Sigma Phi Epsilon began the year with their annual tea for freshmen women. Homecoming was a success for the Eps, with their highly symbolic float, "Carling says Bottle 'em Titans." They also gave a dinner for the Homecoming Queen candidates and a luncheon for alumni. Activities of the year included participation in intramural football, basketball, and softball, houseparties, a Parents' Day Dinner and, of course, the fraternity's part in the annual Sing 'n' Swing. The spring formal at Sharon's Holiday Inn was rated a success. After the completion of a new house addition, the Eps welcomed their new housemother, Mrs. Susan Rhodes and their mascot, Bouffer.

The men of THETA CHI started out the year on the right foot as they took first prize with their Homecoming float. During the fall and winter members of the local chapter weekended at Theta Chi Fraternities on other campuses. They found Ohio State to be the most hospitable. The local chapter also participated in a Theta Chi basketball tournament held at Slippery Rock. The Christmas party and formals were again a success as was pledging this year. Additions to the house included a new split-level lounge and numerous other improvements. The Theta Chi's closed out the year on a musical note as they performed selections from Porgy and Bess at the annual Sing and Swing program.

MacNamara and Nylander converge a little too late to aid the Titan cause.

The offense waits for the ball as the defense tries to stop a crucial 3rd and 1.

Playing the first nine game schedule in their history, Westminster's football Titans finished 6-2-1 in a season where their finest moments came, ironically, in a losing cause. Coaching the Titans for the seventeenth consecutive fall, Dr. Harold Burry was ably assisted by C. G. "Buzz" Ridl and Ralph Bouch in running his career mark to a remarkable 91-23-4. Even though he has not been branded a "four yards and a cloud of dust" advocate, Burry has always had his boys play close to the vest. This year, however, he had the "horses" needed to open up his offense as wide as it was during the playing career of Titan All-American quarterback Harold Davis. The Titan partisans loved it as all season their squad was no longer than a Cornell to Hughes "bomb" from the end zone. Chuck Kurz and Paul Smargiasso were always threats on quick "outs" or halfback lookins across the middle. These four players, Smitty Cornell, Gary Hughes, Kurz, and Smargiasso now hold more individual offensive records between them than any four that have played together in a Titan uniform. Kurz holds the season record for touchdown receptions: 6; while Smargiasso lays claim to the single game record for receptions: 12. They both will return next year. Gary Hughes, in his four years as a Titan broke the marks for season catches: 46, career catches: 96, career touchdown receptions: 13, season yardage: 628, career yardage: 1207, and game: 159. Smitty Cornell also holds an impressive list of records: passes attempted, game: 40, season: 242, and carcer: 505; passes completed, game: 25, season: 144, and career: 291; pass completion pct. career: .576; yards gained passing, game: 254, season: 1643, and career: 3560; TD passes, season: 15 and career: 36; total offense, game: 267, season: 1529 (net), and career: 3404 (net). Nearly all the passing and total offense records that Cornell broke were held by the legendary Harold Davis.

The use of the pass as the Titans' "bread and butter" was necessitated in the first game against Salem which they won 14-7, but lost their top running back Ernic Erdeky for the season with a knee injury. In the next game against powerful West Virginia Wesleyan dependence on the weakened running attack cost possession a number of times and gave Wesleyan too many opportunities at the overworked Titan defense, as the Blue were on the short end of a 13-7 score. (cont. on pg. 267)

FOOTBALL

The erisp fall air was soon filled with erisply thrown footballs as the Titans seored 76 to the opposition's 0 in the victories over Thiel and Geneva. Grove City was a bit harder to solve as they were tied by the Titans in what was perhaps the most exciting game of the year from a spectator's viewpoint. Glenville and Carnegie Tech fell before the aerial circus, setting the stage for the 1966 Titan's finest hour — a loss to Waynesburg. The Yellow Jackets, who were to go undefeated on their way to the NAIA Championship, left town with a one point victory and a little more humility as the Titans beat the Jackets everywhere but on the scoreboard. The victory over Mt. Union by Ron Wheeler's field goal was an anti-elimax in what has to go down as one of the Titan's finest seasons. In the summer it was announced that Harold Burry was named the Small College Coach of the year.

CROSS COUNTRY

If, at the close of the Cross Country season, Coach Frannie Webster had wanted to make excuses for his thinclad's performances, he would not have had to cite anything more than MVP Glenn Dawson's broken ankle to make a legitimate case. This, however, was not necessary as a 4-2 West Penn Conference mark needed no apologies. Despite Dawson's pre-season accident and other minor injuries during the season, the Titans reeled off four straight victories before tasting defeat at the hand of Hiram. The Titans came back to shutout (to have the first five finishers) Duquesne only to drop the next four in a row. They finished the season with a win over St. Vincent to bring their overall record to 6-5.

over St. Vincent to bring their overall record to 6-5.

Three-year letterman Ed Craxton led the Titans all season and was named MVP for his efforts. The Titans finished fourth in the West Penn meet and look forward to having a much stronger team next year.

ROW ONE: j. owen, e. craxton, r. williams, t. armstrong. ROW TWO: h. dunlop, j. contompasis, c. felton, s. chambers, t. gregory.

The Titans, coming back from their first losing season under C. G. "Buzz" Ridl, ran and rebounded, fought and finessed all the way to the N.A.I.A. Tournament in Kansas City. In the Kansas City Tourney for the seventh time, more than any other team in the nation, the Titans lasted into the second round before being overpowered by St. Mary's of Texas and their 6' 10" center Doug Williams. Thus ended a season in which the Titans exceeded all the expectations of the coaches, fans, and players alike.

Lacking a complete performer like former Titan All-American Warren Sallade, Ridl fused such individual talents as John Fontanella's jump shot, Fred McConnell's ball handling, and George Zepernick's inside moves into a cohesive unit that consistently refused to yield to teams with superior physical equipment. Balance has always been the key to the success of past Ridl-coached teams, and the 1966-67 model was no exception. Throughout the season the Titan's opposition was overcome by the constant flow of fresh troops from the Titan bench, as eight players put in about equal playing time. Ridl had at his disposal the personnel to keep the opposition constantly off balance: streak shots Russ Boston and Dave Robinson, ball hawk Bobby Flannery, and position rebounder Joe Yost. All of these players, at one time or another throughout the season, came in and changed the tempo of a game to suit the Titan cause.

The 1966-67 season which eventually saw the Titans win 22 of 28 opened on a pessimistic note as a nondescript Indiana University (Pa.) team took the Titans into double overtime before handing them a one point defeat. It did not take the Titans long, however, to recover from the shock of their initial defeat, as they beat Grove City in the home opener and went on to win nine in a row before bowing powerful St. Francis (Pa.). In the Grove City victory John Fontanella scored 51 points in breaking the old record of 40 held by former Titan two-time All-Americas, Chuckie Davis and Ron Galbreath. Also included in this victory skein was the Championship of the New Castle Optimist's Tournament, which saw home town boy Mike Drespling win the MVP award.

Following the St. Francis disaster, the Titans launched another victory streak which claimed Waynesburg, St. Vincent, Bucknell, Geneva, Alliance, and Grove City as the unwilling Titans victims. The University of Pittsburgh, which the Titans defeated easily at home used their home court advantage and foul line to topple the streaking Titans. Carnegie Tech then cont. on p. 272 . . .

A Deliberate Offense Developed.

Let's hear that whistle, ref!!!

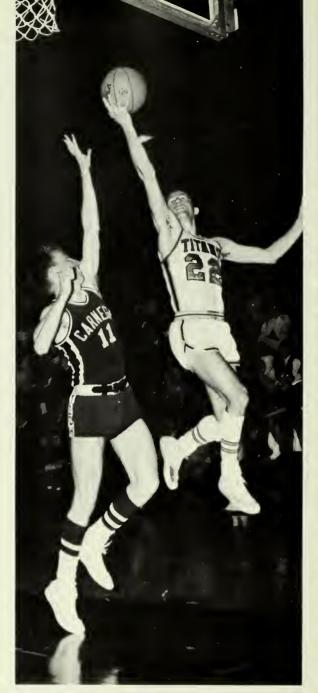

obligingly fell by 35 points, which set the stage for two of the more unusual games in Titan history. In the Waynesburg game Westminster scored a record 123 points, including 45 by Fontanella. This total, combined with the Yellow Jackets' 93 tallies, set the WPC record for the most points scored in one game. The St. Francis "contest" saw another record set — most points given up by a Titan team: 112. It took, however, the greatest St. Francis team since the days of Maurice Stokes to deal the Titans their most ignominous defeat. The stunned Titans let Geneva take them into overtime before winning the final game of the regular season and earning a place in the N.A.I.A. playoffs in District 18.

earning a place in the N.A.I.A. playoffs in District 18.

In the first playoff game the Titans tuned up for the gruelling Gannon series by annihilating the Vulcans of California University (Pa.) 116-78. Even though the Titans beat Gannon by ten at home, they knew it would be a bit rougher at Erie, and it was. The locals dropped a controversial one point decision, as a referee, according to Westminster fans, players, coaches - and a newspaper photo, missed a goaltending call on a layup attempted by Fred McConnell. This sent the series to the neutral court, Meadville High, where the Titans eked out a two point verdict on Dave Robinson's last second jumper. Even though he scored "only" 20 points, John Fontanella played what many consider the finest game of his career. Slandered by the Erie press, razzed by the Gannon fans, and hacked by the worthy opposition, Fontanella consistently wormed his way past the Gannon defense geared to stop him to pop through the two pointers that kept the Titans in the game and sent them on the way to K.C. for the first time in Little John's four years in a Titan uniform. In those four years the spunky little guard scored 1303 points, fifth highest in Westminster history, and in his senior year scored a Titan record of 625 on his way to becoming N.A.I.A. first team All-American and the Most Valuable player in the West Penn Conference.

Even though Fontanella and Flannery will graduate, the 1967-68 club looks even better than this year's tournament team as Buppy DeJoseph, an excellent shot with outstanding range, and Bill Samuels, an intimidating defensive player with good scoring potential are being groomed to replace the two graduating seniors.

And there were 623 more.

Chickenman - he's everywhere!!!

40 minutes later: Titans 116; California 78.

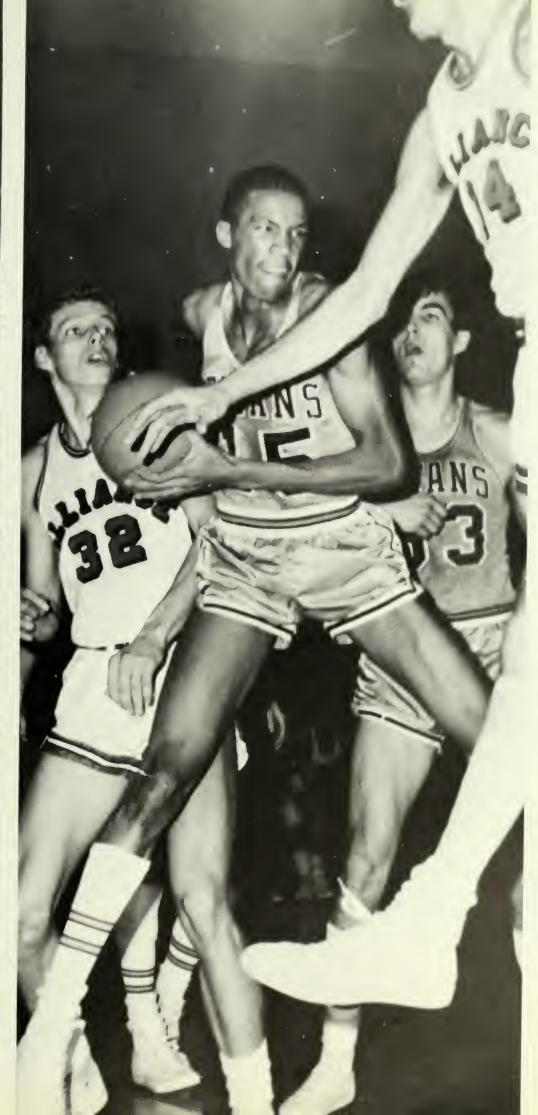

I beg your pardon, but I believe it's mine.

This season the Little Titans played a grueling schedule that included quintets from Pitt, Duquesne, and West Virginia. The experience that several of the Jayvees gained proved valuable as several of them developed into dependable varsity performers as the Titan bench was called upon often in the crucial games down the stretch to Kansas City. The players called up from the Jayvees for the playoff team included Bill Samuels; Anthony "Buppy" DeJoseph, Al Allman, and Ted Schumacher.

Coach Frannie Webster's team got off to an encouraging start as they won their first two outings before bowing to the powerful Dukes. Four more losses followed. After splitting the next four, the Little Titans found themselves with Pitt and West Virginia back to back. They lost their second one point decision to the Panther Cubs, and were shot down easily by the talented Mountaineers.

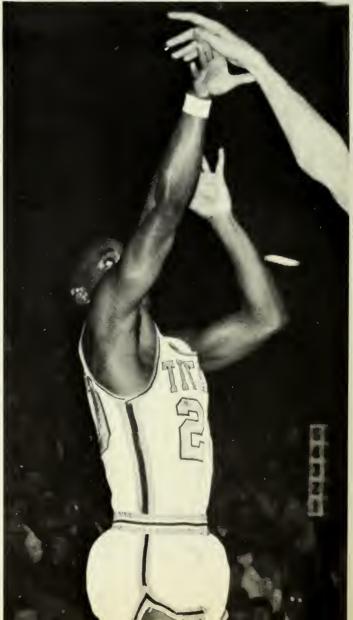

Determined to break their losing ways, the team went on a scoring orgy as they spurted over the century mark in each of the next two games. On the night that the varsity scored the record 123, the Jayvees meshed for 106. Three nights later they dropped 103 through the nets, but they also went on to drop their last two contests, winding up 6-11 on the season.

WRESTLING

Westminster began its first year of varsity wrestling on a limited scale, but made an excellent showing in the two matches that were held. Coach Ralph Bouch was very pleased with his team's performances, and is planning a schedule of eight matches for the coming season.

In their first varsity appearance, the Titans traveled to Western Reserve and dropped a one point decision as Reserve used riding tactics to preserve their win. John Best at 123 pounds, got the Titans off to a good start by pinning his man in the period, thus giving Westminster a win in her very first time on the mats.

The season's only home match was against the Gators of Allegheny, and the Titans drew the short end of a 29-15 score. John Best again put the Blue into a quick lead by pinning his opponent, but the more experienced Gators came back strongly to win. The highlight of this match was in the 145 pound class where Jim Sloan, who had not wrestled since high school and was not even on the team at the beginning of the season, got an emergency call to replace the hospitalized Rich Henderson. Sloan pinned his man with 32 seconds remaining in the final period.

with 32 seconds remaining in the final period.

John Best (2-0), Phil Tack (2-0), and Jim Sloan (1-0) were all undefeated as four of the five wins were pins. Other winners were Fred Canning and Ned Becker who both finished 1-1.

SWIMMING

The swimming team found itself in a more than unusually trying situation during the 1966-67 season. After the first meet in mid-December, Coach Bill McGinnis resigned from Westminster, and the mermen suddenly were without a mentor. Senior captain, perennial high scorer, and perhaps the greatest swimmer in Westminster history, Ed Dudek assumed the additional duty of coaching his fellow swimmers. Ed, recognizing the limited potential of his squad, was not out looking for world-beaters. Rather he decided that his task would be to drive his men to their limits, at the same time hoping for an improvement in spirit which would pay off in the future of Westminster swimming. Ed succeeded in this as the team willingly followed his leadership and improve noticeably with each meet.

Even with this new esprit de corps and constant improvement in the tank, the team's record was the same as it has been the past few seasons — winless. A lot can be said in defense of the team: they were forced to call the Old '77 bathtub home, they were without a professional coach, they competed against swimmers of a higher calibre than Westminster can attract without a decent pool — but they do not need sympathy nearly as much as they need support. It has become an accepted fact that swimming is the "orphan" of the Westminster sports program, and, considering the dearth of student support, the '66-'67 tanker's record was more than commendable.

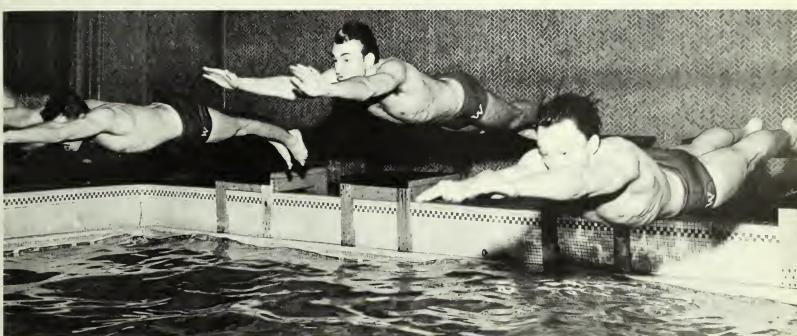

Dudek's coaching methods payed off as everyone on the team bettered himself. Freshman Reg Rothwell set a new record in the 1000 yard freestyle. Coach Dudek led the scoring for the fourth time as Rothwell, Jim Riddell, and Tim Fairman finished 2,3,4 respectively.

The 1967 Titans had a short season in which they made short work of four of their six opponents. Coach Ralph Bouch, in his first year as track coach, saw his charges win the tough West Penn with a 3-1 mark.

The cinderman opened with a convincing 100-40 victory over St. Francis and followed with two more successful meets before being caught short-handed and taking an unexpected loss at Clarion. The Blue came back against Geneva only to lose the finale to Grove City.

Even though the Titans finished second to the Grovers in the Conference Championships, they had reason to be proud as Freshman flash LaRoyal Wilson took firsts in his four events while setting conference marks in three of them. While this amazed the opposition, Wilson's performances were not unexpected to Westminster partisans, as LaRoyal lost only one out of twenty events during the regular season. For the record book Wilson has WPC marks of 9.8 in the 100, 21'11" in the broad jump, and 44'93" in the triple jump. Doug Behn broke the school record in the shot-put several times during the season, finally establishing the mark at 44'94". With most of the team returning including Wilson for three more years and Behn for one, Coach Bouch should have a pleasant job for the next few seasons.

The milers come to the finish with a first and a third.

By the time that baseball season was over, the Titans had wrapped up their fourth consecutive WPC spring sports crown. The diamond dandies played an integral part in this as they won the WPC baseball laurels with a 7-2 mark. Those 14 points were more than enough to push the Titans past arch-rival Grove City, as the Titan golf, track, and tennis teams all had championship seasons.

Coach Buzz Ridl's charges opened the season and conference play with a double win over Waynesburg. They bowed out just as well with the defeat of a fine nine from Duquesne. In between only Grove City and St. Francis were able to besmirch the Titan record in the West Penn. The team picked the right times to have their off days as they went 5-4 in the exhibition season to end up 12-6 on the year.

Surprisingly enough the Titans were productive at the plate as the .240 team batting average belied the Titan's ability to come up with the timely hit. As a team the Titans were below par afield as they managed to bobble one chance in every ten, but most of these lapses came at times when the game was either comfortably won or hopelessly lost. The pitching lacked depth and with one notable exception was inconsistent.

Individually, senior co-captain and left fielder Steve Hopkins was the Titan's lone .300 hitter as he dented the opposition at a .321 clip. Just missing the .300 mark by a few hits was Denny Dunham with a .286 mark. Hopkins led in hits with 18 and was followed closely by Anderson, Harper and Smargiasso who had 16 safeties each. Gary Collins, the other co-captain, led in triples and runs scored. Terry Sergi was the best double producer as Dunham and Smargiasso shared home run honors. Smargiasso also had the most total bases and tied Sergi for the RBI lead. M.V.P. Bill Harper, usually the most prolific Titan batsman, stole 13 bases to atone for an anemic, for him, .262 average.

In the pitching ledger Larry Kelly wrote a 2-3 record as Lance Beshore and Dick Holliday, last year's ace who was plagued by a sore arm, each finished 1-1. That leaves eight victories and one loss yet to be explained, but it only takes one word to do it—Harper. During the season Bill set Titan records for wins, 8, strikeouts, 92 in 61 innings, shutouts, 3, and ERA, an almost invisible 0.74. Enroute to these record season marks Harper also pitched 23% consecutive hitless innings as he tossed back to back no hitters at Hiram and Grove City. Each time Ridl counts his blessings, he should include the fact that the entire staff will be back next year. With a healthy Holliday and a happy Harper, Titan baseball fortunes look fortunate indeed.

A little practice under the eye of Coach Webster.

1967 was the year of the Titans in tennis. Coached by Fran Webster who replaced the departed Bill McGinnis, the Titan netters abounded in depth—taking many of their matches by wins in the lower brackets. Throughout the year desire and ability were the keys to the Titan successes as Webster got the team to live up to its potential. Living up to its potential netted a fine 6-2 overall record, including the WPC crown and the winning of the WPC tourney for the first time in many moons. In the tourney the Titans captured three firsts: Bruce Harrison, this year's MVP, in the #3 singles, Tom Appelt in the #6 singles, and Blackburn-Harrison in the #3 doubles. The remainder of the Titan's winning total of 24 points included seconds by Blackburn—#5 singles, Thompson-Olson—#1 doubles, and the Appelts in the #2 doubles. The Titans look forward to a fine season next year as four of the starting six return.

The golf team, with four lettermen returning from an undefeated season and with the addition of one of the state's finest high school golfers, figured that they were in for a good season. They were wrong—at least in comparison with the past few years, but who is going to complain about a 6-1 mark and the WPC Championship? Surely not Harold Burry.

Led by MVP Chuck Cullison and freshmen Skip Watt and Dan Loucks, the Titans lost only to Pitt in running their record over the last five years to 45-1-1. At one time or another the finely balanced team saw five of its members take medalist honors in meets. These golfers were: Senior Captain Terry Bilkey, John Rishel, Gullison, Watt, and Loucks. Freshman Paul Greco and Sophomore Bob McCallister also saw a lot of action. With everybody returning but Bilkey, the Titan golf fortunes do not look too awfully bad.

Acknowledgments . . .

David Evans of Consolidated Graphic Arts Corporation of Canton, Ohio, our publisher, for his assistance and printing arrangements; George Stewart of S. K. Smith Company for covers; Neil Bardelli of Abey Studio of Youngstown, Ohio, for portraits and group pictures and for developing ARGO-STAFF negatives; Mitchell Simon and the Public Relations Office for pictures and information; Peter Pauper Press for their kind permission to use the Haikus found in the photo essay and on division pages; Mr. Ellis and the Business Office for help and supervision; Mrs. Hopkins, our advisor; the Publications Committee for their generous giving of freedom; the Turners for their hours of help and moral support.

And a final thanks from the Editor to the Staff and to all those people who spent time and talent in the production of the ARGO '67.

B. Smith, Editor, '67

The ARGO '67 was printed on 90 pound dull enamel in offset lithography. The body copy, captions and identifications are Caledonia Roman with Italics; headines are Deane; index is Times Roman with Bold. Four color was used extensively for the first time in the ARGO '67—in the first two forms. Special effects on pages 10 through 16 area two color pacterization, two colors. 16 are: two color posterization, two color 16 are: two color posterization, two color mezzotint, line shots, reverse positive, reverse positive line shots, and flipped negative (page 16) using two colors. The Japanese Haiku poetry used in the photo essay and on the division pages was reprinted from The Four Seasons and Cherry Blossoms copyrighted by the Peter Pauper Press, and from Scrawl, the campus literary magazine. The publication contains 316 pages.
